In an interesting and insightful article Dr Cliff Wright gives his impression on his recent visit to China with a group of academics.

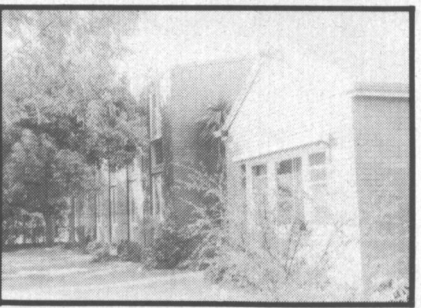

Papers from Terry Carney, Adam Jamrozik Marie Coleman and John McLaren are included in this report on the Child Care Conference held at Lorne recently. The conference was chaired by Mrs Joan Child, the former MHR for Henty in Victoria.

The First Challenge to the Family Law Act is discussed by Mr Neville Turner a senior lecturer in law at Monash university Melbourne and an executive member of the International Society of Family Law.

Brian English and Sali Smith from the Family Research Unit at the University of New South Wales introduce some research into the family that they will be undertaking and raise some methodological and philosophical questions.

Denham Grierson, a lecturer in education takes a hard look at policies in child caring agencies. Is the present emphasis on the child-in-the-family going far enough he queries.
