STERILISING THE APPARENTLY INCAPABLE: FURTHER THOUGHTS AND DEVELOPMENTS

Frank J. Bates

This article explores the issues in relation to the complex subject of sterilization of apparently incapable minors. Three legal judgements in relation to this issue are discussed and ramifications for policy considered.

CHILD ABUSE: APPEARING IN COURT

Christopher R. Goddard

In this article the author explores some apparent tensions between lawyers and welfare workers and provides some guidelines for welfare workers appearing in court.

THE RIGHT TO PROTECTION FROM POVERTY OF CHILDREN OF DIVORCED COUPLES

Richard Ingleby

The author considers the relationship between child poverty and marital breakdown, and explores the effect of legislative provisions outside the courtroom.

PARENT EDUCATION: DEVELOPMENTS AND DISCREPANCIES

June Allan and Cynthia Schultz

In this article the authors consider some of the frequently overlooked potential effects of parent education and explore the literature relating to the effects on parents' confidence and parenting skills of such programmes.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT: CHILDREN AND DISABILITY

Judi Hollingworth

The author discusses the meaning of community support and explores what is necessary for effective community support for children with disabilities.
